

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to certain peptides that correspond to sequence elements within the human Alzheimer's amyloid precursor protein (APP). These peptides may be used to protect cells from iron catalyzed oxidative damage.